

THE BRANCH 324 BUZZ

January 2022

Ready for a New Year?

While we have many vacancies in management with many offices our branch represents, we can only hope to get some stability throughout the USPS in the Colorado/Wyoming District. Only time will tell and when we receive any word, it will be shared to carriers. Until then, we need to be certain to watch out for each other on the workroom floor.

Want to receive notifications on branch news?

The branch has been using the app called GroupMe over the past year for smaller groups including stewards and the executive board members. We have now implemented this for branch meeting notices and other important news. Your offices will be receiving sign up sheets for you to be added to it. We will probably design it so that we have one large scale notification system but also we can break it up by offices. There are many times when we need to send out office notifications so this will help to notify specific carriers in one area of our branch. Don't be surprised if you start getting texts if the branch already had your number. If you wish to not receive these notices, please contact Rick to have your name/number removed. Thanks!

New Members Stepping up to Represent

The 2022 Steward's College is scheduled for January 27-29 in Denver, CO. We have many new representatives who have stepped up to attend and will be appointed to positions in the near future. It is always appreciated when we have members step up to protect and educate their fellow city letter carriers. Please help support them and reach out to them when needed.

EDUCATED UNION MEMBER

NALC Headquarters has been notified at least one member in Colorado who lost his home due to the devastating Marshall Fire. Many other members have been displaced. They have not yet been able to return to their homes to survey any damage that their property might have suffered.

The fire started on Dec. 30 and quickly spread more than 6,000 acres, destroying homes and forcing thousands of people to evacuate. NALC has been informed that approximately 600 homes and businesses on city routes in Louisville, CO have been destroyed or are severely damaged. In Boulder, CO, at least two city routes have been affected, with the extent of the damage still being uncovered.

Have Something on your Mind?

We will be publishing a newsletter next month and are looking for input from all of our members. You don't have to be a steward or officer to have an article in the newsletter. If there is something that you have experienced and would like to help others, please feel free to reach out and share that in an article. Email Rick if you have something on your mind to share with other members.
