Networking and Job Search "Joys & Concerns"

Join with other NCJS members and leaders for constructive networking, job search troubleshooting, sharing what's going well and what is not, and collaborating on job leads.

— NORTH COAST JOB SEEKERS — NETWORKING

Networking is part of "Job Search 101," yet many job seekers lack the actual network of "people with connections" during a time of job transition. Networking is one of the cornerstones of North Coast Job Seekers and we are very intentional about providing face-to-face time to explore connections, be introduced to new contacts, discover new opportunities, and share the people resources that YOU have to help another job seeker. Join with other NCJS members for this face-to-face time of constructive networking, job leads, and issue sharing.

PLAN AHEAD – FOLLOWING MEETING

NCJS Meeting – Monday, January 23, 2017

"The 4-Week Job Search and 9 Pitfalls to Avoid"

Speaker: Rebecca Bosl

Rebecca Bosl is a highly-recommended Resume Writer and Career Coach residing in Broadview Heights, Ohio. The last 8 executives she has worked with have landed 6 interviews in the following week, and at least 1 offer within 4 weeks.

She attributes the job search acceleration to the development of a branded resume and an optimized LinkedIn profile. Rebecca will share some case studies on the process and also share 8 pitfalls to avoid in your job search.

Rebecca Bosl is a Certified Resume Writer and former Market Research Consultant, in which her role was to identify what makes products and companies unique and amazing, and why people would want to buy them. Rebecca's slant to writing resumes is that she looks for what is unique and amazing about her clients, and why people would want to hire them. Her resumes and LinkedIn profiles are sales and marketing documents that get noticed and get results – often immediately accelerating even stalled job searches.

Rebecca is one of only 100 highly trained Career Coaches that are certified to give WorkPlace Big 5 assessments, providing clients with unparalleled depth of insight. The reports generated from these assessments will measure her clients on 28 personality traits, 54 competencies and 8 career tests, providing them with hundreds of pages of output.

Rebecca is a member and participant in the NCJS LinkedIn Group and her LinkedIn profile can be found at Rebecca Bosl.
